

The third position makes me feel like a real ballerina. You place the heel of one foot against the middle of the other foot while holding one arm in front and one arm out to the side.